

From 1st July 2010, Irish Agrément Board certification is to be replaced by I.S. EN 12566-3:2005 certification, i.e. the CE mark.

I.S. EN 12566-3:2005 relates to mechanical aeration units. A standard condition of any grant of planning permission is that mechanical aeration units must have certification or an equivalent European technical approval.
